

Native American Pow-wow Guide

Sponsored by the Oneida Nation Arts Program (ONAP)

Native American Dance, Song, & Pow-wow

Northeastern Wisconsin, USA

There's usually a pow-wow at least once a month within a 130 mile radius of Oneida and Green Bay, Wisconsin, at the turn of each season. ONAP will provide you with a Native American guide to show you around the pow-wow grounds. You can try ethnic foods, watch the dances, and buy art, jewelry and crafts from many different tribal people. The guide will also inform you about pow-wow etiquette, symbolism, the Grand Entry, dance styles, special dance exhibitions, and ceremonial activities. He or she may also tell stories, explain tribal history or culture, and point out special land marks on the trip. For more information, call the Beth Bashara, director of ONAP, at (920) 405-4499.
